

Two very touching stories:

Kathy and I have sponsored Nicholas since 2004 when he was in p-6 (age 11). He is the one that wrote “Never Forget Africa, Never Forget Uganda, Never Forget Mustard Seed Babies’ Home” on our farewell card after our first visit. It so touched us and we have often used it as a slogan of our commitment to the Babies’ Home. He is now graduated from secondary school and is ready for University. During this visit we did not get to see him much because he and seven other Mustard Seed kids were participating in Shalom Training, a national program to teach conflict resolution. Their motto is “Peace with self, peace with God, peace with others, peace with environment, peace with country and peace with the world.” When we stopped by to visit them they wanted to introduce us to the friends they were making during the training. After the initial hello’s, Nicholas ‘cleared this throat’, held Kathy’s hand and said, “Everyone, I would like to introduce My Mom!”

John Guest, age 7, is such a special little boy. He has a very sweet spirit. Since 2004 we have watched him grow year by year. Our first visit in 2004, Rev Polly from Monroe LA really spent a lot of time holding and nurturing him. They have maintained a very close relationship. Rev. Polly could not join us this year so of course John was really missing her. One afternoon he gave this little toy car to Kathy and said, “please take this to Polly for her Grans’.” What a beautiful way to see that this “love affair” is not a one way street!
